

SOUTH CAROLINA SPIRIT
Left: A view from The Dewberry.
Above: A dish from Pink Bellies,
one of Workshop's food stations.

CHARMED LIFE
Clockwise from left: A 2014 La Lune chenin blanc from Monarch Wines; a guest room at The Dewberry; Pancito & Lefty's dining room.

LOCAL HEROES
Clockwise from above: A performance at Redux; Havens's showroom; Rodney Scott's BBQ; Goat, Sheep, Cow, North.

NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH

UPTOWN

A formerly sleepy district is now central to Charleston's food and art scene.

Pancito & Lefty

Chef-owner Robert Berry's new contemporary Mexican restaurant blurs the line between kitchen and bar and has a menu rich in rare mezcals. pancitoandlefty.com

The Dewberry

Just south of Uptown, this 155-room hotel is an homage to midcentury modern, with an intimate lobby bar and rooms overlooking Marion Square. thedewberrycharleston.com

Rodney Scott's BBQ

Expect a line for chicken, spareribs and pulled pork slow-smoked overnight then drenched in Carolina whole-hog ambassador Rodney Scott's signature vinegar sauce. rodneyscottsbbq.com

Workshop

The newest venture from Charleston restaurateur Michael Shemtov is a gourmet food court with a revolving group of chef-owner food stations. workshopcharleston.com

Monarch Wine Merchants

The new sommelier-grade bottle shop and tasting room is the passion project of Justin Coleman—who formerly worked at Balthazar and The Mark in New York. monarchwinemerchants.com

Redux Contemporary Art Center

In May, a converted warehouse that once housed a roller skating rink will debut as a nonprofit art studio and gallery space shared by more than 40 emergent artists and open to the public. reduxstudios.org

Havens

At Havens Blanton's new storefront, sip wine or tea while shopping for clothing and accessories from edgy indie designers not found elsewhere in the city. havensl.com

Goat, Sheep, Cow, North.

Patty Floersheimer and Trudi Wagner won a following with their connoisseur's cheese shop in the historic district. Now they've opened an Uptown location. goatsheepcow.com. —Stinson Carter

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: PETER FRANK EDWARDS; ANDREW CEBULKA (?); COURTESY OF RODNEY SCOTT'S BBQ; OLIVIA RAE JAMES; JESS SPENCE; ANDREW CEBULKA; F. MARTIN RAMIN, STYLING BY ANNE CARDENAS; MATTHEW WILLIAMS